Preface

Welcome to the 2023 ANZCA Examination Handbook and Information manual. This book includes general information, regulations and guidelines for ANZCA examinations in the forthcoming year.

Those teachers who are new to ANZCA will find a concise introduction to the examination system, including its history, aims and method of assessment.

ANZCA's Video examination format, introduced in 2020 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, is now a permanent option in all areas and series, alongside Face-to-Face exams. Video exams have their own online entry portal and entry forms, which can be found on the Exam Entry pages of our website, www.anzca.com.au.

All current ANZCA syllabuses are available for purchase from the office and music stores, or as free PDF downloads from the Syllabuses page of our website.

The General Manager and Board of Directors welcome comments on any aspect of our service (by phone, mail or email at admin@anzca.com.au), and wish teachers and their students a rewarding year in music.

Introducing the

ANZCA Examination System

Australian and New Zealand Cultural Arts Limited is a non-profit examining body of the performing arts. It is governed by a Board of Directors, who give of their time in an honorary capacity, and administered from a central office in Melbourne. ANZCA aims to provide music teachers and students with an examination system which is both accessible and innovative, combining the security of a proven format with an exciting range of repertoire.

ANZCA was formed in Melbourne in 1983. Now thoroughly established in Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand and Singapore, ANZCA offers up to three practical and two theory examination series annually. Practical Video exams, introduced in 2020 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, are also available outside the set exam series and areas. Modern and classical exams are held in pianoforte, organ, guitar, voice, trumpet and flute, as well as contemporary exams in pianoforte duet, mandolin, ukulele, bass, drum kit, trombone, clarinet, saxophone, accordion, recorder, strings and theory of music. 2018 saw the introduction of Jazz Syllabus examinations, based around a set of purpose-written grade books by renowned educator and composer Christopher Norton and former ANZCA examiner Doug McGregor.

ANZCA's continued success lies in the combination of sound educational principles with a practical, common-sense attitude to the content and process of music examinations.

The assessment of most instruments includes up to three beginner levels (Introductory, Preparatory and Preliminary) preceding Grade One to ensure a comfortable introduction to music examinations, especially for the very young candidate. From Preparatory to Grade Eight, each standard practical examination consists of Technical Work, three or four List pieces (depending on the exam level), General Knowledge, Sight Reading and Aural Tests. Each section is given both a comment and a corresponding mark, with a total score out of 100. Beyond Grade Eight, three levels of Diploma are offered: Associate (Performer and Teacher), Licentiate (Performer and Teacher) and Fellowship Performer.

ANZCA believes that music is a living art, and aims to encourage the development not only of the traditional elements of technique and interpretation, but also of creativity. This is reflected in the inclusion of an improvisation alternative to sight reading for Modern Pianoforte candidates, and improvisation elements in some Aural Test exercises for most subjects. Embellishment and/or improvisation are expected in modern stream examinations (where appropriate), and from Grade One both streams may include a Free Choice list. This piece, which is marked equally with the set lists, may be from any source and in any style, within the syllabus requirements.

The ANZCA examiners comprise a highly professional group, including distinguished recitalists and music educationalists from universities and colleges throughout Australia and New Zealand. Both acknowledged experts in their field and experienced teachers, ANZCA's examiners are very mindful of the real problems facing the student and teacher alike. Candidates are greeted by name and treated in a friendly, relaxed manner. Every effort is made to put the candidate at ease and make the examination a positive, enjoyable experience.

Feedback from teachers is encouraged, and policy is continually reviewed and adjusted, so that ANZCA can always meet the demands of a constantly changing society. Relevant observations or suggestions from teachers are welcomed.

Important Information for 2023

ANZCA 40th Birthday Celebrations

2023 marks 40 years since the registration of ANZCA (then Society of Australasian Arts) as a business. To celebrate, there will be special offers and events throughout 2023. Keep an eye on our Stretto e-newsletter, Facebook page and website for announcements.

PRACTICAL EXAMINATIONS

With “COVID-normal” strategies now widely in place, Face-to-Face examinations are once again offered in most regions, alongside the Video exam format. Please be sure that you are familiar with the procedures and regulations for both exam types, including rescheduling and transfers.

Detailed information can be found in Regulations (from page 9 of this booklet). For a comprehensive explanation of Video exam procedures, see the Video Examinations Information page under the Support tab on our website.

ANZCA SYLLABUSES

The 12-month changeover period has now ended for Pianoforte, Guitar/Bass/Mandolin, Drum Kit and Singing syllabuses. This means that from 2023, all candidates for these instruments must prepare their exam programs from the current (2022–24) syllabuses. For all other instruments, the most recent edition will remain current for 2023.

All current syllabuses are available as free PDF downloads from the Syllabuses page of our website.

EXAM FEES, SUBSCRIPTION AND PUBLICATIONS PRICES

ANZCA examination and publication fees will increase in all regions on 1st of February 2023. This is the first increase for a number of years, and whilst we’ve been able to avoid raising prices over the last few years, our costs have increased to the point where it can no longer be avoided.

Assessment

CRITERIA:

Assessment is based on a comprehensive set of criteria, summarised as follows:

- a) Technical ability: appropriate for the grade, comprising accuracy, facility, co-ordination and control.
- b) Musicality: including interpretation, understanding of the style and structure of the works performed, dynamics, phrasing, rhythmic stability and melodic shape.
- c) Performance: conveying to the listener the character and spirit of the music with fluency and style.

BASIS:

All assessment depends upon the extent to which the candidate succeeds in achieving the above criteria. To ensure stability of marking standards, new examiners undergo a two-year training course, and all examiners attend regular meetings for ongoing training.

Assessment of standard practical examinations covers Technical Work, two (Introductory), three (Preparatory to Grade Three) or four (all other grades) pieces of differing styles, Sight Reading, Aural Tests and General Knowledge. Improvisation tests are included as an alternative to Sight Reading in Modern Pianoforte and Modern Organ from Grade Two.

Performance Syllabus and Jazz Syllabus exam assessment is based on four pieces only at all levels. There are no other requirements or requisites. Performance Syllabus requirements are found on the last pages of each syllabus/instrument; Jazz Syllabus requirements are listed in each repertoire book.

Examiners’ comments are written during the examination. These are intended to assist the candidate and teacher, and correspond to the marks or grading awarded.

Assessments are based on the following guidelines for grade levels:

- Introductory to Grade Three: Development of basic music skills and technical accuracy. While an appropriate grade standard must be attained, students are given every encouragement for their efforts.
- Grades Four and Five: Development of a greater sense of musicality and style.
- Grades Six and Seven: A high degree of technical security and maturity of performance.
- Grade Eight and Diplomas: Stylistic awareness, musical sensitivity and technical competence.
A guideline handbook for all Diplomas is available from the Syllabuses page of the ANZCA website.

GRADINGS AND CERTIFICATES: See Regulations, nos. 89 and 90.

19. Teachers are requested to notify the office of any examination cancellations.
20. Transferred students must lodge an entry by the closing date of the required session in order to be enrolled. A student is not enrolled until an entry form for the new session is received. Enrolment cannot be transferred from one candidate to another.

Practical Examinations

STUDIO REQUIREMENTS:

21. It is the responsibility of the centre to provide a safe environment and ensure that adequate public liability insurance is in place to cover both examiners and students.

EXAMINATION TIMETABLES:

22. Once dates and times are set for each centre, an examination timetable will be forwarded to the centre. Teachers must not alter this timetable.
23. Teachers must not contact examiners to discuss timetables or any other details of examinations.

ENTRY SLIPS AND PROGRAM LISTS:

24. For Face-to-Face exams, entry slips with venue, date and time will be emailed to teachers approximately three weeks prior to the examination. Candidates must bring the entry slip to the examination. Pieces to be performed must be listed on the entry slip.
For Video exams, an email with the exam details will be forwarded to the teacher. A list of pieces to be performed must be submitted to the office no later than two weeks prior to the scheduled examination.

IN THE EXAM ROOM:

25. Only examiners and candidates may enter the examination room, with the following exceptions:
 - An accompanist, who is to be present in the room only when required. It is the responsibility of the candidate to provide an accompanist.
 - A page turner (not the teacher) may be present when required at Diploma levels only.
 - The teacher, strictly in the event of student illness or technical problems with instruments or other equipment only.
26. For Face-to-Face examinations, neither teachers, parents, nor any other person may enter the exam room for any reason, including page turning or sorting music books, except as specified in point 25 above.
For Video examinations, teachers or parents may assist candidates by asking technical work and introducing each piece by name, but coaching of any sort is not permitted.
27. Teachers and candidates must expect that at times there may be two examiners for levels below Diploma. New examiners need the opportunity to learn in both practical and theoretical situations.

LIST PIECES:

28. Examiners may, at their discretion, hear the whole or any portion of the works presented for examination.
29. Candidates must bring the original music for each list into the examination room, including the Free Choice solo. This includes pieces to be performed from memory.
30. Candidates must supply the examiner/s with copies of their music at the beginning of the examination under the following circumstances:
 - In Grades Six and Seven, a copy of any Free Choice piece which is not listed in the syllabus.
 - In Grade Eight and Diploma, copies of all list pieces.

In all cases, photocopies will be retained by the examiner and destroyed.
31. Except for the Free Choice section, any work presented which is not set for the grade will be marked either from half the maximum score, or as Not able to assess.

32. It is the teacher's responsibility to ensure that the Free Choice solo is of at least the grade standard. Copies should not be submitted to the office for approval.
33. Any standard edition of works will be accepted for classical examinations. Candidates for modern examinations must use the edition specified in the syllabus.
34. Candidates should be familiar with repeats, although these should not be performed in the examination; however, Da capo and Dal segno directions should be observed. Modern-stream candidates may include one repeat with embellishment or improvisation.
35. Where a candidate enters for both a classical and a modern examination in the same grade, no solo is to be used twice. A Free Choice selection from a higher grade can not be used again at a higher level.
36. ANZCA does not approve of the use of photocopies in examinations. Candidates must present for examination with their own books or sheet music (including digital downloads), and will not be allowed to present works from photocopies of ANZCA publications. A photocopied portion of a page may be used for convenience of turning.
37. Candidates must erase written marks from their music prior to the examination. Marks indicating embellishment, fingering, bowing, pedalling or registrations will be accepted.
38. Tempo should be in keeping with the style of the pieces. Where indicated, the metronome marks are to be regarded as an approximate indication of tempo.
39. Where a backing recording is to be used, each candidate must have a separate recording, to be correctly cued (where applicable) before entering the examination room. It is the responsibility of the teacher or candidate to provide suitable playback equipment and to ensure its smooth and timely operation.
40. Although not mandatory (except for some Diploma levels), candidates are encouraged to memorize one or more of their pieces.

RECORDINGS – FACE-TO-FACE AND VIDEO EXAMINATIONS:

41. The examiner may at times record a practical examination, but this recording will remain the property of ANZCA and will not be made available to the teacher or candidate.
42. Recording of Face-to-Face practical examinations is not permitted under any other circumstances, with or without the knowledge of the examiner.
43. Each Video examination will be assessed by one examiner only from a single viewing of the recording.
44. Video examination recordings must not be distributed, or used to obtain a second opinion or assessment from any other person or organisation.
45. Video examination recordings will be deleted from ANZCA's system one month after results have been posted. A small number of videos may be retained for examiner training purposes, with any identifying details of the student or teacher removed.

Written Examinations

EXAMINATION DATES:

46. Theory examinations are held twice each year on set dates. Under no circumstances can the set dates or times be changed.

ENTRY SLIPS:

47. Entry slips with venue, date and time will be forwarded to teachers approximately three weeks prior to the examination. Candidates must bring this entry slip to the examination.

EXAMINATION TIMES:

48. Candidates should arrive at the examination centre at least 15 minutes before the scheduled exam time.
49. Candidates will be given five minutes' reading time before the examination commences.
50. No candidate may leave the examination room within the first half hour of the exam. No candidate will be admitted to the examination room after this period.
51. ANZCA and its supervisors cannot take responsibility for students once they leave the exam room. As many candidates complete their examination in less than the time allowed for their respective grade, parents or guardians should be ready to collect students before the scheduled finish time. It is not the supervisor's role to mind children after the examination or to check they have been met by their parents.

MATERIALS:

52. It is the candidate's responsibility to ensure they are given the correct examination paper.
53. Candidates may bring only the following materials into the exam room: pens, pencils, an eraser, correction fluid and a ruler.
54. No books or writing paper may be brought into the examination. Manuscript paper for rough work is provided, and must be handed in with the completed exam paper.
55. Mobile phones must be turned off before the candidate enters the exam room, and must not be visible to the candidate during the exam. Headphones can not be used during the exam.
56. Examinations may be completed in pencil, but work must be clear and legible, otherwise marks may be lost.
